near (Seine et Marne)

Long and Miller landed W of Chenoise (Provins), about half a km part.

A French boy soon took Long to a farmhouse. Three Frenchmen led Miller to a thicjet where he lay in his underwear for about half an hour while a French girl got him clothes. He was then taken to a farmhouse. The two men were left in afield of wheat for the day. That night they were taken by car to a garage in BANNOST (S et M). They stayed three days and threentight. They were told that their RP, BTG, and LWG were safe. They met Mme Riest who spoke English and had been a teacher. They were given pistols and were taken by truck to a chateau or farmhouse with resistance men. The next day a half English and half French resistance leader gave the men the A/C story and took photographs. They went by truck with the same driver to NANGIS, staying at an old sugar factory near the railway tracks for five days and five nights. A Belgian brought food.

Pierre de Morge, 19, leader of the resistance group at Montigny le Guesdieu took them to this town, where the other members of their crew seem to have been with them. They stayed two days and then because they were so many the RO and LWG were taken elsewhere. Long and Miller did not see them again. The other three nebst stayed two weeks. The Gestapo then arrested two Frenchmen who had a radio transmitter, so Pierre said that the men must have, About 12 July Pierre took them by truck to Laguy where they spent thenight with a baker and went the next day to Paris by train. They went to Mme Develay, 91 Rue d'Alesia, Paris 14^e. They stayed three weeks to the day. Three other Americans whom they did not talk to or see again were on the train. In Paris the BTG was taken by some woman, and they did not see him again. At the house above they received new clothes.

A girl took the two men to a truck. They saw a Frenchman whom they had seen before, and they went with twomen to Leuville sur Orge where they stayed with Georges Dubois at his store. They met Georges Gillard, a resistance chief from some other place. At Gillard's home they met a navigator and three other Americans, 2 F/O's and one S/Sgt. The N was from their own group, a name like Hogeous, flying deputy lead N with another flight, down N of Paris about 14 June. Col Cobb was his P. The col broke his leg and was taken P/W. (Can we identify?) The other three Americans were from B³24's.

They met a captain of resistance Armand Nion, 8 Rue Jean Jaures, Leuville sur Orge (S et O).

About 23 Aug the two men came again into American control and had the usual confusion in returning to England.

APPENDIX "D" TO E AND E REPORT NO.

List all military information which you observed or were told while evading. Give fullest possible details. (Airfields, troop encampments, coastal and interior defenses, AA batteries, radar installations, troop movements, results of allied bombing, location of enemy factories and ammunition dumps, enemy and civilian morale, etc., etc.,.....)

The German soldiers seemed like they were half starved that I saw and in my opinion their moral was very low. The French moral was very high. They (the troops) moved through Paris in very old and worthless vehicles. An airfield for Ju 88 at Boetigny in France was completely destroyed by American & English air force. Germany has Radar installed guns on train cars North of Paris. The Free French always seemed to know where the German installations & enemy's camps were and they killed quite a number of Germans. The French resistance clothed & gave me the best of food. In less than five minutes after I hit the ground the French had me in civilian clothes and my flying clothes were buried.
